NEW QUESTION: 1

A method `doSomething ()` that has no exception handling code is modified to trail a method that throws a checked exception. Which two modifications, made independently, will allow the program to compile?

- A. Catch the exception in the method that calls `doSomething()`.
- B. Catch the exception in the method `doSomething()`.
- C. Declare the exception to be thrown in the `doSomething()` method signature.
- D. Cast the exception to a `RuntimeException` in the doSomething() method.

Answer: B,C

Explanation:

Valid Java programming language code must honor the Catch or Specify Requirement. This means that code that might throw certain exceptions must be enclosed by either of the following:

*A try statement that catches the exception. The try must provide a handler for the exception, as described in Catching and Handling Exceptions.

*A method that specifies that it can throw the exception. The method must provide a throws clause that lists the exception, as described in Specifying the Exceptions Thrown by a Method.

Code that fails to honor the Catch or Specify Requirement will not compile.
