NEW QUESTION: 1
You are developing a SQL Server Analysis Services (SSAS) multidimensional database.
The underlying data source does not have a time dimension table.
You need to implement a time dimension.
What should you do?
A. Create a script by using a sample time dimension from a different multidimensional database. Then create a new dimension in an existing multidimensional database by executing the script.

B. Use the SQL Server Data Tools Dimension Wizard and generate a time table in the data source.
C. Create a CSV file with time data and use the DMX IMPORT statement to import data from the CSV file.
D. Use the SQL Server Data Tools Dimension Wizard and generate a time dimension by using the Use an existing table option.
Answer: B
Explanation:
In Microsoft SQL Server Analysis Services, you can use the Dimension Wizard in SQL Server Data Tools (SSDT) to create a time dimension when no time table is available in the source database.
Generate a time table in the data source Select this option when you have permission to create objects in the underlying data source. The wizard will then generate a time table and store this table in the data source. The wizard then creates the time dimension from this time table.
Generate a time table on the server Select this option when you do not have permission to create objects in the underlying data source. The wizard will then generate and store a table on the server instead of in the data source. (The dimension created from a time table on the server is called a server time dimension.) The wizard then creates the server time dimension from this table.
