-enableassertions[:&lt;package name&gt;"..." | :&lt;class name&gt; ] -ea[:&lt;package name&gt;"..." | :&lt;class name&gt; ]

Enable assertions. Assertions are disabled by default. With no arguments, enableassertions or -ea enablesassertions.

Note 2:

An assertion is a statement in the Java™ programming language that enables you to test your assumptions about your program.

Each assertion contains a boolean expression that you believe will be true when the assertion executes. If it is not true, the system will throw an error.

public class AssertionError extends Error

Thrown to indicate that an assertion has failed.

Note 3:

The javac command compiles Java source code into Java bytecodes. You then use the

Java interpreter - the java command - to interpret the Java bytecodes.

Reference: java - the Java application launcher

Reference: java.lang.Class AssertionError

NEW QUESTION: 4

A project to develop a QlikView application for a customer requires splitting developers into two teams.

One team will focus on developing source database query knowledge to create a reusable data layer. There are several application-specific business rules for this project. The customer needs to incrementally accumulate history for the QlikView application over time.

The second team will focus on developing the presentation layer. This team also has data modeling and scripting expertise, but does not have source database query knowledge. Which data loading strategy should the developers use on the project?

A. create QVDs of the source data, apply the business rules and store a second layer of QVDs, and then load these QVDs into the presentation layer QVW

B. create the presentation layer QVW and connect directly to the source data and apply the business rules in the script

C. create QVDs of the source data and load them into the presentation layer QVW and apply the business rules in the script

D. create a series of QVWs that apply the business rules and then binary load them into the presentation layer QVW

Answer: A
