NEW QUESTION: 3

Using SSL, an administrator wishes to secure public facing server farms in three subdomains: dc1.east.company.com, dc2.central.company.com, and dc3.west.company.com. Which of the following is the number of wildcard SSL certificates that should be purchased?

- A. 0
- B. 1
- C. 2
- D. 3

Answer: D

Explanation:

You would need three wildcard certificates:

- *. east.company.com
- *. central.company.com
- *. west.company.com

The common domain in each of the domains is company.com. However, a wildcard covers only one level of subdomain. For example: *. company.com will cover

"<anything>.company.com" but it won't cover "<anything>.<anything>.company.com".

You can only have one wildcard in a domain. For example: *.company.com. You cannot have ..company.com. Only the leftmost wildcard (*) is counted.

Incorrect Answers:

A: You cannot secure public facing server farms without any SSL certificates.

B: You need three wildcard certificates, not one. A wildcard covers only one level of subdomain.

D: You do not need six wildcard certificates to secure three domains.
